Trump Is No Friend of Workers ... or Students

Public education is the bedrock of our democracy, lifting every generation of Americans to a better life and greater opportunity. But Trump and his hand-picked Education Secretary Betsy DeVos have spent almost four years pushing to defund public schools and divert billions of dollars to non-public schools via tax credits and school vouchers.

Meanwhile, Trump and DeVos demanded that those exact same public schools must hold in-person classes this fall, without the additional funds the schools desperately need for more teachers and staff, and safety and sanitizing equipment.

Trump and DeVos did not provide schools and teachers with the internet and computers they need to provide a thorough and efficient education to students, and the lack of Wi-Fi and digital tools is biggest in lower-income communities.

Trump and DeVos continue to rate the success of schools by the results of federally mandated standardized tests, not how well teachers teach and students learn, and they base school aid on those tests.

Trump and DeVos have failed students with disabilities by underfunding and not fully implementing the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. This affects one out of every seven students!
